RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP (PROJECT DIRECTED)

Directed 40+ interdisciplinary research projects in contexts of war, displacement, famine, and poverty. Fieldwork in Afghanistan, Ethiopia, the Gambia, India, Jordan, Mauritania, Nepal, Niger, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Sri Lanka Tanzania, the United Kingdom, and the U.S.-Mexico border (listed below by geographical focus).

GLOBAL

- Research on everyday peace (2024)

As part of a study led by the Peacebuilding Initiative, I led focus group sessions to discuss the drivers of everyday peace, implementing a Fuzzy Cognitive Mapping methodology. This included workshops at the UNDP Crisis Bureau (invited by David Khoudour, April 2, 2024), at the United States Institutes of Peace (invited by Illana Lancaster, Director of Higher Education Engagement, July 22, 2024), at the AÇEV 30th year Symposium ‘From Science to Practice’ (invited by Suna Hanoz, Istanbul, Turkey, May 14, 2024).

- Independent review (2021), commissioned by the International Migration Organisation (IMO)

This review focused on the Joint Intersectoral Analysis Framework (JIAF). JIAF resulted from commitments by donors and aid organizations at the 2016 World Humanitarian Summit (WHS) to improve the quality of needs analysis and provide an intersectoral basis for humanitarian responses. The independent review assessed whether JIAF could provide “a single, comprehensive, cross-sectoral, methodologically sound and impartial overall assessment of needs for each crisis to inform strategic decisions on how to respond and fund ...” The research included with 54 interviews, using tailored questionnaires for technical, programmatic, and donor informants; desk review of 24 available Country 2021 Humanitarian Needs Overview (HNO), action reports, and the Methodology Working Group handover report; and the creation of three quantitative datasets to characterize the People in Need (PiN) Pathway, the HNO/JIAF Indicators Dataset, and the Sector PiN Dataset. Collaborations: Kaveh Khoshnood, Nathaniel Raymond, Daniele Poole, Rachel Farell, Chloe Jensen, Devin Osborne.

- Consultative exercise on defining priorities for mental health and psychosocial wellbeing in humanitarian settings. Collaborations with: Six universities and/or multi-sectoral organisations across the world. Funding: World Health Organization, 2010-11

- Early Childhood Peace Consortium (ECPC). Collaborations with: The Mother-and-Child Foundation (AÇEV), Turkey, UNICEF, New York. Funding: UNICEF, 2014; AÇEV, 2012-14.

CENTRAL AMERICA: MEXICO

- Refugees and Forced Displacement on the US-Mexico Border. Conducted ethnographic fieldwork with faith-based organizations and migrants at several sites on the US-Mexico border (Tijuana, Baja California, Mexico; El Paso, Texas, USA, Brownsville, Texas), involving participant observation, interviews, and archival research. 2018-20.

MIDDLE EAST: AFGHANISTAN, PAKISTAN, JORDAN, SAUDI ARABIA

- In 2022-24, Research on social networks, volunteering, and women’s empowerment; first-ever use of social network and fuzzy cognitive mapping in refugee populations. See for example, Yale News: “A first-of-its-kind study examines the social networks of women from low-income households, including Syrian refugees, in Amman, Jordan, <https://news.yale.edu/2023/07/28/volunteering-empowers-refugee-and-jordanian-women-poor-urban-communities>, 28 Jul 2023. Also, News at Yale, entitled “ ‘Fuzzy’ maps offer insight into local perceptions of the value of volunteering,” <https://news.yale.edu/2024/06/04/fuzzy-maps-offer-insight-local-perceptions-volunteerings-value>, June 4, 2024.
- In 2023, led a mixed-methods that included analysis of panel data, evidence from a randomized controlled trial on a volunteering intervention, and a net-mapping approach to knowledge representation, with Syrian refugee and Jordanian women, throughout 2023. See award-winning documentary (Terror and Hope: The Science of Resilience) by Ron Bourke, based on research I have led in Jordan to feature how science works on behalf of refugees in humanitarian settings. <https://www.ronbourkefilms.com/terror-and-hope>

- Long-term research program on conflict, resilience, and displacement with Syrian refugees. See for example: <https://macmillan.yale.edu/news/comparing-online-and-person-surveys-assessing-measure-resilience-syrian-refugee-youth>.

- Partnership with Hashemite University, Jordan - 2022

“Professor Catherine Panter-Brick (Yale University) and Professor Rana Dajani (Hashemite University) have established a sustained partnership to build an interdisciplinary research program on wellbeing and social inclusion in low-resource communities in Jordan.” Example of specific research projects (2015-17) include the evaluation of a youth-based program on mental health among Syrian refugee and Jordanian host communities; research on parental burnout, family dynamics, and wellbeing during the Covid pandemic (2021-2022); and research on social networks (2022). On January 15, 2022, Professor Fawaz Abdelalhaq, President of Hashemite University, endorsed and welcomed further university-level collaboration. (https://hu.edu.jo/NewsCenter/f_news_0_0.aspx?newsid=34218).

- Impact evaluation of a humanitarian intervention for Syrian refugees in northern Jordan. Collaborations: Mercy Corps and Hashemite University (Dr. Dajani), 5 other universities. Funding: Research for Health in Humanitarian Crises (R2HC), 2013 & 2015-2017; Ongoing in 2020.
- Outreach activities in Jordan. Jordan High Council for Science and Technology & University of Jordan (Dr. M Shtewi). Funding: British Council & HCST in Jordan, 2007, 2006 & 2000
- Evaluation of a mindfulness intervention in Kabul Psychiatric Hospital, Afghanistan. Collaborations: International Medical Corps (I Weissbesker) and Autonomous Health Education for Afghanistan Development, Ahead (B Feldman). Funding: Conflict Resilience & Health Program, Yale.
- The mental health of Afghan youth in the wake of conflict and population displacement. Mental health and resilience in urban/rural areas of Afghanistan and refugee camps in Pakistan. Collaborations: Ministry of Education, Kabul & ALTAI Consulting, Kabul, and University of Peshawar, Dept. of Social Work (Prof. S Safdar), Pakistan. Funding: The Wellcome Trust, 2004-07 (award R170247).
- Mapping social stressors, mental health and psychosocial stress in Kabul. Collaborations: ALTAI Consulting & Northwestern University (Dr T McDade). Funding: The Wellcome Trust, 2007 (award R170247).
- Afghan refugee children: culture disruption and social resilience. Collaborations: University of Peshawar (Prof. S Safdar). Funding: British Academy, 2003.
- Mapping genetic diversity for ethnic populations of Afghanistan, from buccal swab mitochondrial DNA. Collaborations: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research, USA (Dr. TG Schurr). Funding: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research, 2004.
- Parental responses to genetic disorders in cousin marriages in Saudi Arabia. Collaborations: King Faisal Specialist Hospital & Research Centre, Riyadh (Drs. PT Ozand and GG Gascon). Funding: Oxford University Research Fellowship, 1988-89.

AFRICA: MAURITANIA, NIGER, SIERRA LEONE, TANZANIA, THE GAMBIA, ETHIOPIA

- Fieldwork on Everyday Peace in Mauritania, June 2024

As part of a study led by the Peacebuilding Initiative, I implemented a mixed-methods study to map stakeholder knowledge on everyday peace, with Amb (ret.) Bisa Williams. Collaborations: colleagues at the Diplomatic Academy and the University of Nouakchott, Mauritania. <https://jackson.yale.edu/centers-initiatives/peacebuilding-initiative/research/>

Generated videobytes in English, French, and Hassaniya: Students, parents, diplomats and scholars in Mauritania were asked to reflect on the meaning of "everyday peace" and what factors causally influence a peace ecosystem.

- Evaluation of an emotion regulation intervention with ex-child soldiers. Collaborations: Harvard School of Public Health (Dr. T.S. Betancourt). Funding: Yale MacMillan Center of Area and International Studies.
- Child vulnerability to famine in Niger. Consultancy: Concern Worldwide, 2006.
- A stitch in time save lives: Promoting culturally compelling strategies to repair bednets in The Gambia. Community-based intervention & evaluation to promote health-related behaviour change. Collaborations: MRC Laboratories (Dr. M Pinder) & London School Hygiene & Tropical Medicine (Dr. S Clarke). Funding: Gates Malaria Programme, 2002.
- Growth status & cortisol variation in street/non-street children: Comparative markers of wellbeing in Addis Ababa. Collaborations: Institute of Ethiopian Studies, Addis Abeba & Dept. of Applied Psychology, Univ College Cork (Dr. A Veale). Funding: Durham University mid-career awards, 1994 & 1996.
- Mapping genetic diversity & human origins of ethnic groups from buccal swab mitochondrial DNA in Ethiopia. Collaborations: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research (Dr.TG Schurr). Funding: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research, 1994.

ASIA AND OCEANIA: NEPAL, INDIA, SRI LANKA, NEW GUINEA

- Growth and Gut damage: A New Hypothesis. In slum and middle-class areas, Nepal: infant growth, gut enteropathy & immune hyper-stimulation; evaluation of a handwashing-with-soap intervention. Collaborations: Kathmandu Medical College, Nepal (Prof. D Manandhar) & Dept. of Anthropology, Cambridge University (Dr. P Lunn). Funding: Wenner-Gren Foundation, ESRC & Royal Society, 2004-08.
- Youth stress study and outreach activities, Sri Lanka. Collaborations with: Ruhuna University. Funding: Higher Education Council (UK), 2007.
- Bio-markers of child health, Nepal. Gut function, acute-phase proteins, and growth faltering in slum areas of Kathmandu. Collaborations: Tribhuvan University, Nepal & Northern Ireland Centre for Diet & Health Ulster (Dr. A Northrop-Clewes). Funding: Durham University, 1999-2000.
- Mapping genetic diversity & human origins of ethnic groups in Nepal: Buccal swab mitochondrial DNA. Collaborations: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research (Dr.TG Schurr). Funding: Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research, 1993.
- Children at risk: a comparative study of homeless, slum-dwelling, middle class & rural groups. Multi-disciplinary study of growth, psychosocial stress, immune function, life histories. Collaborations: Child Workers in Nepal (CWIN) (Dr. Pradhan) & Emory U (Prof. C Worthman). Funding: Durham University grant for junior faculty, 1993.
- Seasonal variation in nutritional status at the household level. Analysis of 4 yr data on seasonal weight loss and activity patterns, Nepal. Collaborations: Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique, France (unit of G. Toffin). Funding: Durham University & CNRS, 1990-91.

- Impact of seasonality on male/ female reproductive function: Collection of 6000 saliva samples for analysis of steroid hormones, Nepal. Collaborations: Prof. P Ellison, Harvard University, Laboratory of Reproductive Ecology. Funding: The Leverhulme Trust & Stopes Research Fund, 1990-91.
- Fall in blood prolactin levels after timed nursing intervals, Nepal. Collaborations: Emory University (Prof. C Worthman). Funding: Emory University, 1991.
